PARKING RESTRICTION PROTESTS ARE HEARD

ONE STORM DID IT ALL—A huge gully that would have taken years of normal erosion to create was ripped through a level field near Natrium, W. Va., by one furious rain and windstorm. Soil conservation officials measured the gorge at 320 feet long, 100 feet wide and 60 feet deep in spots.

Stores' Business Future Bright

Harvard Expert Cites Statistics In Survey

WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—Department stores have reversed the declining profit trend of 1949 and most stores now view coming months with "considerable optimism," a Harvard retailing expert reported today.

Malcolm P. McNair said the 30th annual survey of the Harvard University Bureau of Business Research showed that department stores "bore the brunt" of last year's business recession.

Profits dipped 27 per cent to a figure of about 3 cents for each dollar of sales, after taxes. This was the lowest level since 1938. Total dollar sales dropped for the first time in 11 years, McNair said.

He gave the report to the Controllers' Congress, financial unit of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, at its midyear meeting here.

Even today sales have not met expectations, McNair said, largely because of lags in apparel and general merchandise. He added: "Nevertheless department store gross margins seem to have improved measurably because of lower markdowns, and expenses in many stores have now been brought under better control."

The survey also showed that the proportion of business done on credit rose for the fourth successive year. Regular charge and installment sales accounted for 54 per cent of all sales, as against 52.7 per cent in the previous year.

"This shift was the smallest since the war's end and may signal at least temporary stabilization somewhat below the pre-war rate experienced during 1939-1941," McNair said.

Posse Finds Boy, 4, Missing Overnight

COUPON, Pa., June 14—(AP)—A posse of men who had searched dense woods all night for a four-year-old boy found the youngster today "slightly blue" but safe a half mile from home.

The boy, Clarence Swope, son of a coal operator, disappeared from his home in central Pennsylvania's Allegheny mountain area yesterday afternoon.

He was found 500 feet from a rocky path. His clothes were soaked from rain which fell intermittently during the night.

An estimated 1,000 persons, including state police, nearby residents, volunteer firemen and Altoona police, combed the wild forest region.

The surrounding area is studded with the water-filled holes of abandoned surface coal mining operations and the searchers expressed fear the boy might have fallen into one of these.

Pettibone Club's 'Slots' Put On Wheels

CLEVELAND, June 14—(AP)—The Pettibone club has installed 20 slot machines mounted on wheels for quick evacuation in case of a raid, the News said today.

The newspaper said this was the first time slots have been featured since Gov. Frank J. Lausche tried to close the Geauga county spot in Bainbridge township several months ago.

At present, the state has a case pending in common pleas court at Chardon, where a new judge, William K. Thomas, has been installed by the governor. Gov. Lausche wants it shut down for violating the Ohio building code.

Turnpike Survey Contracts Let

2 Engineering Firms To Begin Ohio Job

COLUMBUS, June 14—(AP)—Highway Director T. J. Kauer today signed contracts with engineering firms to route a toll turnpike across northern Ohio.

The J. E. Greiner Co. of Baltimore will make engineering studies for $267,500. Traffic surveys will be made by Parsons, Brinkerhoff, Hall and MacDonald of New York for $70,000.

The Ohio Turnpike Commission and Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy have approved the contracts.

Kauer said the engineering studies will be made this way: The New York firm will determine the highest traffic volume in a 15-mile band across the state. The Baltimore firm then will determine the most feasible road location within that band.

Continued studies will be made until the most practicable location is agreed upon.

The turnpike will extend east and west across Ohio from a juncture with the Pennsylvania turnpike south of Youngstown to the Indiana line. It will swing north near Cleveland and Toledo.

F. W. McKee Studying Distribution Facts

F. W. McKee, chairman of the board of the Salem China Co., is one of a committee of some 150 industrial executives currently studying major problems involved in the distribution of American goods, in behalf of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Claude A. Putnam, president of the NAM, said today that the committee "studies and analyzes important development problems related to the distribution of goods."

"This committee," he added, "explores the questions which confront industrial management in this field—such as the effects on industry of such basic laws as the Robinson-Patman Act, Fair Trade Practices Acts, and decisions of the Supreme Court affecting distribution. Also, it analyzes trends and changes in methods of distribution."

House Approval Puts Rent Bill Back In Senate

Minor Changes Made; Sen. Cain Threatens New Filibuster

WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—House passage of a rent control bill bounced it back to the senate today—and the threat of a new filibuster there.

Changes which were voted late yesterday by the house as it passed the bill 202 to 163 make it necessary for the senate to take another look, and Senator Cain (R-Wash.), who led a filibuster last week before the senate passed the bill, indicated that he wants a good, long look.

He might want to start another filibuster which conceivably could prolong final action beyond June 30, when the present rent control act expires.

Cain told newsmen he is "studying the possibility of fighting the changes."

The house-voted changes are relatively minor.

The senate voted for a one-year extension of the federal control program, with the last six months of control affecting only those communities that request continuation from next January 31 to June 30.

The house decided to make the general extension until next January 31—seven months—with communities having the option of keeping controls for an additional five months instead of six.

Another change made by the house would give the unincorporated areas of counties the right to remove controls after a public hearing. That option already belongs to states and incorporated communities.

The reasoning behind the house decision to extend the controls generally until January 31 was that state legislatures, many of them meeting in January, would have a chance to enact local laws before the federal statute expires. And Congress would have a month in 1951 in which to take another look at the rental housing picture.

Both the senate and the house bills affect an estimated 8,000,000 rented dwellings, or about half those that were under controls in 1946. Recent changes in the original law provided for gradual decontrol.

House Republicans, like Cain, argued that there no longer is any need for controls. They tried to kill the bill by sending it back to committee but lost by a vote of 226 to 143.

Tax Reduction Gets Taft O. K.

WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) offered today to help administration leaders speed through the senate any bill carrying what he regards as a reasonable reduction in excise taxes.

Taft, who heads the GOP Policy Committee and is a member of the tax-handling finance committee, told a reporter he sees no reason why the Republicans and Democrats can't agree on some nuisance tax relief.

"I would be glad to join with the administration in holding only brief hearings and getting a bill before the senate if the house acts soon," Taft said. He didn't go into details as to what would be reasonable tax reduction.

Review Bases On Greenland

Maintenance Poses Problem For U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—American officials said today that the question of maintaining American bases on Greenland has become a problem for military planners under the North Atlantic treaty. They ruled out any full scale evacuation of American forces in the foreseeable future.

The base issue, long a point of discussion between the American and Danish governments—the latter controlling the great North Atlantic island—was brought back into the news today by a report published in Copenhagen.

The newspaper Berlingske Tidende said that American troops will evacuate Greenland beginning June 30.

While American authorities speak about any Greenland matter with great reluctance because of the rows frequently kicked up over the question of Denmark, this latest report was described here as "inaccurate."

Diplomatic informants said that American forces in the island have been considerably reduced since the war and that there might be some other cuts, but that there certainly is no question of complete evacuation of the island.

Pressed to explain what the situation is, these authorities said that it is no longer a matter of direct negotiation between the United States and Denmark but rather a matter of what is essential for the defense of the North Atlantic area under the treaty to which both nations belong.

49 Graduated From Trades Extension

At the annual Salem Trade Extension Classes banquet and graduation held last night at the Memorial building 49 men were recognized for completing regular extension work with 210 members of management, class members and alumni and the school board present.

Rev. R. G. Hunter gave the invocation followed by the dinner. The Tiger Town Four, male quartet from Massillon, sang eight selections. School Superintendent E. S. Kerr awarded diplomas to the 49 graduates and C. E. Jones of New York gave a scientific demonstration titled "Electrons and the Mechanical Man."

Holland Cameron, trade extension supervisor, was toastmaster and welcomed guests from Lisbon, Leetonia, Columbiana, East Palestine, Alliance, Sebring and Salem.

In a short ceremony following the end of the banquet, Fred Sweitzer, E. W. Bliss Co. plant superintendent, presented wrist watches to the seven Bliss men who have completed their apprenticeship and extension studies.

Merchants In Zones Claim Trade Affected

Protests Expected To Be Carried To Council Next Week

Some E. State st. merchants made it known today they are dissatisfied with the experimental traffic program put partially into effect Tuesday morning.

One store owner filed a protest with the Salem Chamber of Commerce, saying that the institution of the "no parking" zone between Lincoln ave. and Penn. State st. is affecting his business.

Another merchant, whose business was not in the limited zone, told the chamber the new regulations would be a hardship to retailers in the downtown area. He opined that State st. would be made a ghost section, with the restaurants being hurt the most.

The dealer went on to say that he would like to know more about the resolution. One merchant said he has engaged an attorney to carry his case before council when it meets Tuesday night in City Hall.

Mayor Harry Vincent said two dealers contacted him and asked for an explanation of the setup. One man claimed his business was cut 25 per cent since the no parking zones were marked off yesterday.

The other merchant said he would like to get a hearing on the situation. In answer to this, Mayor Vincent said council would be glad to hold hearings on the subject to explain the program further.

The mayor said "We realize the program will be a detriment to some people and a help to others. We ask the merchants to try it out and make an honest effort to give it support."

"The program is a temporary measure in the form of a resolution, and if it meets with council's expectations, it may become an ordinance," stressed the mayor.

"Council is wholly unprepared to pay for the resurfacing of State st. Therefore, in order to get the state to help with 50 to 80 per cent of the cost to pave the street, council must comply with the regulations the state highway department sets up."

The department, pressing for a solution to Salem's congested traffic problem, has ordered the improvement of State st. but will not help with the cost unless parking is taken off either side of the street. Traffic conditions in Salem are among the worst in Ohio.

"Council's resolution is not an answer to the traffic problem, but is an extreme try to find a solution. Support is needed to keep it from reverting to the state-mate once facing council," the mayor concluded.

Lustron Heads Facing Probe

Government Enters
Into Investigation

COLUMBUS, June 13—(AP)—The Ohio State Journal said today it had been informed that the federal government would investigate the Lustron Corporation.

The newspaper quoted an unnamed "reliable source" for its information. It said the course had informed it Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood three weeks ago ordered U. S. District Attorney Ray O'Donnell to prepare for a grand jury investigation.

The grand jury would be asked to investigate how Lustron spent $37,000,000 it borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The RFC foreclosed on the loans after Lustron defaulted on payments.

The pre-fab housing firm's affairs are currently in an unsettled state with federal courts in Chicago and Columbus exercising jurisdiction.

Judge Underwood yesterday confirmed a liquidation plan preparatory to approving sale of Lustron to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for $6,000,000, and of its inventory to the Lafayette Steel Co. of Detroit for $645,000.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan in Chicago yesterday ordered Lustron into involuntary bankruptcy and named three receivers.

Extra Funds Tacked To Farm Program

WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—A proposed economy drive in the senate to cut government costs appeared today to have backfired on its first test.

Reliable sources said that several million dollars had been tacked on to funds previously voted by the house for the Agriculture Department.

The increase was said to have been voted by an appropriations subcommittee headed by Senator Russell (D-Ga.) but under an agreement among leaders of the full committee no reports are being made public now.

The house allowed $764,032,710 of new cash for the Agriculture Department but loans, customs receipts and other revenue sources would make a total of $1,432,000,000 available for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

The subcommittee under Russell, working behind closed doors, has upped these funds, it was learned, but Russell said he could not affirm or deny.

Will you walk into my parlor?

The spider doesn't have to drag his dinner into the web. Just one willing step inside, and the unthinking fly is hopelessly trapped, a strand at a time.

That's how a nation gets trapped into a socialistic form of government. Not all at once—but a strand at a time—until all liberty is lost.

Here's how it happens. The government of such a country—in the guise of the people's welfare—begins to assume more and more control over that nation's industries and services. Little by little, the people turn their responsibilities over to their government—and, eventually, their liberties as well.

And it can happen here. There are in America people who want the government to have more and more control over American life. "Let the government begin," they say, "by taking over the doctors, the railroads, the newspapers, the electric light and power companies."

It's strange, but many of these people—like most Americans—don't really want a socialistic U. S. A. But the result is the same. When government, a little at a time, controls enough things, you have a socialist nation, whether you want it or not. But by then it is too late.

Remember the fly and the spider web. That first step in is the most important!

Conservatives To Force Debate

Schuman Plan Is Crux
Of Parliament Battle

LONDON, June 14—(INS)—Political quarters in London said today that Conservative party supporters of a European assembly are determined to force debate on the British Laborite government's attitude toward the Schuman plan and European unity in general.

The Conservatives are said to be planning a demand for clear statements about the dividing line between the government stand and the position of the Labor party itself.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee told parliament yesterday that Britain is prepared to cooperate in the economic integration of Europe.

Previously the executive committee of his Laborite party rejected the proposal of French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman for a pooling of western European coal and steel production.

The Conservatives point out that the extent to which the United States is likely to cooperate in any "Atlantic community" will be conditioned to a certain degree by the willingness of Europe to integrate politically and economically.

Invalid Canton Boy To See Wild West

CANTON, June 14—(AP)—Seven-year-old Billy Shearrow, who's been in a cast from the waist down for a year, is going out to the cowboy-Indian country this summer.

He will see the intertribal ceremonies at Gallup, New Mexico, in August.

And he will get a chance to say hello to some of the hundreds of persons from Albuquerque and other New Mexican towns who have sent him letters and gifts.

The Gallup Chamber of Commerce and four service clubs here—Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and 29-30—are teaming up to send Billy and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearrow on an airplane tour of Indian reservations of the southwest.

Billy is suffering from a bone disease which attacked his hip joints, and he must wear his cast at least two more years.

As a hobby, he started collecting postcards, and his mother wrote the postmaster at Albuquerque to send Billy a card or letter. The request got newspaper and radio publicity, and Billy got more than 5,000 letters from persons in all the states except North Dakota; but most of them from New Mexico.

Indians have sent the boy several headaddresses, some bows and arrows, five turquoise rings, pictures and beadwork.

"What's In It For You?"

THE Secretary of Agriculture, Charles Brannan, has gone to some trouble to point out that a comic-book style of pamphlet about his farm plan contains a few errors. That's easy to understand.

This little publication was put together and distributed by the Democratic National Committee. The idea was to whoop up votes for Democratic party candidates by showing voters what the Brannan plan would do for them.

It was written on the practical theme used by President Truman when he told his pet minorities after his nomination in 1948 that if they didn't support him they would be ungrateful. The Brannan plan, in other words, was intended to be trading stock for support at the polls. It is not a farm plan at all but a political plan.

Therefore, the title of the pamphlet was blunt: "The Brannan Plan—What's in It for You?"

There could be a series of pamphlets on that theme, just as there has been a series of government policies, all designed to appeal to minorities.

Something Can Be Done About It

IT IS POSSIBLE that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who is being eyed by New York State politicians as a possible Democratic candidate for governor, and James E. Roosevelt, who has just won California's Democratic nomination for the same office, are indispensable in the public life of their respective states.

It is possible that both these men are attaining prominence through their own diligence, skill and other outstanding qualifications. No one wants to deny them the right of political careers, if they deserve such careers in their own right—and no one questions their right to go as far as they can on their own steam.

But on general principles it is permissible to wonder how far voters in a free society should permit the names of young men like the Roosevelt brothers to be exploited by political opportunists.

Exploitation of names in politics is an insult to representative democracy. Worse than that, it is one of the most cynical maneuvers in politics. There is only one way to discourage it. Voters who are assumed to be too dumb to know what is going on can prove they are smarter than they were supposed to be. If they did that often, there would be a sudden slump in the political name racket.

Homespun Gangsters

THE VIOLENT death of another member of the Sheltons in Illinois—Roy Shelton, this time—has occurred in a strange setting. Roy was beginning a day's work on his farm. When shot from ambush, he fell under the wheels of a tractor and his body was mutilated by a disk and harrow. These affairs usually occur in city streets. But the Sheltons are homespun gangsters.

As has been true of all recent Shelton shootings (Earl, nephew of the original Earl, was shot at last Monday but missed) there is no apparent reason for the continuation of a warfare that has kept southern Illinois on edge. The Sheltons are puzzled, they say. But they continue to be targets. Roy, second oldest of the five Shelton brothers, was not one of the three who became notorious during the Prohibition era for their violence. Yet, he is the third of the brothers to come to a violent end in an ambush. Illinois newspapers, which have learned to make a daily count of the Sheltons to see who's missing, may be expected to assign reporters with insomnia to watch the original Earl and the other surviving brother, Delta. The coverage will be done best from armored corn cribs. Otherwise, there would have to be reporters to keep count of the reporters who were keeping count of the Sheltons.

Vacation Quests

A FEW MINUTES with the vacation resort advertising reveal what it is that Americans are looking for when they forget the work-a-day world.

If it may be assumed that resort managers know what is most appealing, here are the prime objectives of the vacation quest:

Television, good cooking, shower baths, steam heat, friendly atmosphere, a wide choice of things to do including doing nothing at all, prices to suit every pocketbook, freedom from hustle and bustle with special attention to automobile traffic, music, comfortable beds, contentment, a chance to gain weight if too skinny and a chance to lose weight if too fat, fresh vegetables, and amateur theatricals.

The last named is presumably of eastern origin—the barn-theater belt. It is not so much in demand as television, which already is established as a necessity for vacation resorts, like scenery. But it is coming up strong and may be as important as comfortable beds and shower baths in another 10 years.

Postal Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

Cutback Eases Postoffice Deficit

(Second Article of Series)

WASHINGTON Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson ordered his drastic cuts in postal services he cut a Gordian knot.

During the long years of a growing postal deficit not one of the thousands of suggestions to put P. O. in the black offered this startlingly simple solution.

If the taxpayer doesn't want to pay for fancy postal services, do not give them to him. At least the problem is out in the open now, on a brand new basis. For the first time in over 100 years of growing postal deficits the public has a chance to examine the question on a realistic basis.

Donaldson's cuts in service are in anticipation of proposed Congressional budget cuts for next year. They won't wipe out the deficit entirely. But they show the way. Here they are, summarized:

There will be one delivery a day instead of two. Some business districts will continue to get two. No mail will be collected from letter boxes after 8:30 p. m. There will only be one parcel post delivery a day to both residential and business districts. Window service will be provided only between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. at main offices. Branch offices will be closed earlier.

No large batches of mail will be accepted over post office loading platforms after six in the evening except first class mail, air mail and newspapers. Directory service, locating the right address if an incorrect one is on the envelope, is now out.

THERE ARE other details in the order but those are the ones the citizens will see in operation first hand. And except for maybe having to wait one-half of a day longer for a letter, making sure you put the proper address on letter, and getting to the post office earlier to buy stamps, the cuts aren't going to be a drastic hardship on anybody, postal authorities claim.

Just how far these reduced services will go towards eliminating this year's postal deficit of $545 million isn't made clear. But if the whole deficit is to be wiped out by eliminating unprofitable services it would involve scrapping air mail, special delivery, money orders and low rates for newspapers and magazines. The alternative is to raise rates for all these losing services. And that brings the taxpayer back to the chronic disputes over the postal deficit which have been going on for years.

All of the magazines and most of the newspapers in the U. S. enjoy the benefits of low-rate second class mail. The theory of this costly service is that the dissemination of news and educational matter is in the best interest of the government as a whole and should be subsidized.

The publishers say that it is the taxpayer who enjoys the benefits. Some publishers have also advanced the potent argument that if the second class rates were raised to where the government would make money, it would be cheaper to have some private agency distribute their magazines or papers. Why should they finance an inefficient government service?

THE COST OF air mail is another old one. Nobody knows the actual cost of flying a letter to its destination. The post office is charged enough for the service to give the air lines a profit each quarter. It's a plain subsidy to the air lines and everybody admits it. But you've still got that postal deficit.

Still another group of suggestions for helping the post office out of the red by modernizing its methods comes from the Hoover Commission. They include taking the appointment of postmasters out of politics, decentralizing the post office into 15 regions, introducing businesslike principles of budgeting and accounting, simplifying postal laws and regulations and giving the post office authority to raise rates for special services to make them profitable.

A start has been made toward putting some of these suggestions into practice. But there is still the question of how much money they will actually save. And they don't solve the basic problems of putting the post office on a paying basis.

In the last analysis it will be up to Congress to make the decision. As it stands now, proposed budget cuts will force Donaldson's new orders into effect. But there are also a couple of bills pending which would force Donaldson to rescind his order, without providing any money for it, however. It is the prediction of all who are close to the problem that the cuts will stick and that U. S. citizens will have to be content with the reduced service.

The Blue Boy

By TRUMAN TWILL

HEREWITH is this column's annual squawk of indignation about poison ivy. The cursed stuff sneaks up on you, like those poisons with the cute names, for sale in cocktail lounges.

The catch is that no one goes into a cocktail lounge innocently, whereas no one ever knowingly walked into an ordeal by poison ivy. And as long as this whole thing is going to be personal, it might as well be stated in all candor at the outset that the stuff has caught us off guard again.

Here it is, barely summer, and one eye is swelled shut. Not because poison ivy was touched, or not because anything it had touched was touched. But only because somewhere a poison ivy vine is growing, perhaps in Brooklyn, and the wind happened to be blowing the right—or wrong—direction.

This super-sensitivity to the national menace which is more serious in our time than atomic poisoning qualifies T. (for tender) Twill as a kind of ambulant Geiger counter who can be depended on to start twitching and itching within miles of any poison ivy. Whether or not there is any future in this depends on how much twitching and itching one human body can undergo before the men in white come with the net and the truck with the lock on the door.

But if the ordeal can be survived once more, Itchy is going to file some applications with public health authorities. For board, lodging, sedatives and an eternal supply of lotions and powders, he will be available for security checks in all places frequented by human beings.

One whiff of poison ivy at any distance up to one mile will register immediately with a reddening of the eyelids, a swelling of the lobes of the ears and a general prickling of the skin. Two whiffs and the health authorities can locate the direction in which the ivy twines by noting which nostril, which eye and which ear already have puffed up like the parts of a poisoned pup.

It is obvious from what has happened that there must have been about 33 whiffs this time, with a gale blowing. A review of recent events indicates that the whole thing must have happened through remote control, because there has been no occasion to be close to any poison ivy than half a mile. But that is too close, by three-quarters of a mile.

As has been pointed out before when the same thing happened, everybody gets a chuckle out of a case of ivy poisoning, except the victim. That hardly seems fair, does it? The victim should be amused, too. Ho, ho, scratch, yuck. It is wrong to scratch. Yuck, yuck, tickle, tickle. Yahhh! Day . . . red, white and oh, so all decorated up for Decoration blue.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Treatment of Varicose Veins

THE veins which carry the blood from the feet and legs back toward the heart are equipped with small valves which keep the blood from flowing backward. If it were not for these valves, the blood would press hard on the walls of these veins merely because of the long column which would have to be raised against the force of gravity.

Unfortunately, during the middle and later years of life, these valves tend to break down, the pressure of blood against the walls of the veins increases, and the veins become more conspicuous. This leads to a condition known as "varicose veins." Varicose veins are near the surface because the deeper veins get more support from the muscle and other tissues around them, which helps to prevent their enlargement and swelling.

Varicose veins slow the circulation. This frequently results in breaking down of the skin and surrounding tissue with the formation of large ulcers, which are annoying, unsightly, and rather difficult to cure. Ulcers, however, do not as a rule occur until the varicose veins have been present for a long time.

There are several ways of treating varicose veins and ulcers and in recent years many of these have had a good deal of success. The use of elastic bandages which support the widened and enlarged varicose veins is, of course, an old remedy and helpful in many cases. Elastic bandages are also often used—at least for a while—after other forms of treatment.

The best treatment for ulcers is to prevent them by treating varicose veins before they have had a chance to develop ulcers. Once ulcers have developed, treatment is aimed at curing the underlying cause—namely, the varicose veins and assisting the ulcer to heal.

Many methods are used. Most of them involve some kind of pressure dressing. Some success has been reported also from the use of dressings consisting of a paste made from red blood cells. (NEA Service)

Still Hold the Floor in Washington

Probing The Integrity of Congressmen

By DAVID LAWRENCE

HERE ARE TWO consequences that might be inferred from the new activities of the house lobby committee:

1. The American Congress is about to investigate and report on the integrity of its members.

2. The government here is about to be revealed as conducting the biggest propaganda machine in the world—with the possible exception of the one in Russia.

But it is too early to tell whether these inferences will be corroborated by committee proceedings.

Lobbying is like a two-way street. If improper influence is being used to sway members of Congress, then the committee might be expected logically to interrogate its colleagues and demand their files. The present federal statutes cover all attempts at bribery or acceptance of bribes.

But lobbying in itself is held to be legitimate under certain circumstances—depending on whether it is done in behalf of the Democratic administration or in opposition to its measures. When the lobbying is for the administration program, it is supposed to be "in the people's interest." When it is opposed, it is held to be vicious and improper. That's the President's own definition—though it was, to be sure, said to a press conference in a facetious vein.

THE HOUSE LOBBY COMMITTEE

At the instance of President Truman, has begun to delve into the matter of expenditures for lobbying that are not required to be reported under existing law.

The right to investigate this subject is clearly within the prerogative of Congress—there is also a right to congressional immunity for any smears that are conveyed. It will be interesting to see how passionately the "left wing" spokesmen will denounce this smearing.

Business men are expecting another smear. They have been asked to report what sums they have spent for publishing pamphlets, sponsoring radio and television shows, advertisements in newspapers and periodicals, and any other acts that could influence national opinion.

There is no law against such spending, but the lobby committee chairman says he wants to consider amendments to the present law so as to cover all public expressions that could possibly sway public opinion on national issues. Labor unions which use pamphlets and advertisements presumably would be exempted—at least, the effort would be focused on businesses conducted for profit.

It might later be held by the Supreme Court of the United States that to place any restrictions—even the registration of companies or filing of expenditures—in connection with the publication of opinions are contrary to the constitutional guarantees of free speech and the right of petition.

But a congressional committee has a right to explore a subject, pass a law and leave it to the courts later to declare such laws invalid. The Supreme Court actually has ruled that impediments to the exercise of constitutional rights could flow from an abuse of registration requirements.

BUSINESS MEN

have been reluctant to give out the information about these expenditures, thinking it an unwarranted intrusion in their affairs and an attempt at intimidation. This is a mistaken view. The business men should help to assemble every bit of data so that the American people may know how trivial, relatively speaking, is the total amount of money actually being spent to combat the socialistic and quasi-communistic influences which are trying to undermine the free-enterprise system in America.

The businesses of America might well consider how far short of a real insurance premium, they are spending to assure survival of free enterprise.

Socialistic propaganda comes out of the government itself. Hundreds of millions of dollars of government money is being spent to indoctrinate the people with government-made doctrines. If the government can squelch opposition expressions, it will subject America to "thought control" overnight.

When the committee reveals the information about what the corporations are spending to defend their properties against attack and destruction, the American people will learn what a feeble effort really is being made as against the tens of millions of dollars of taxpayers' money being spent to put over government ownership and various schemes that would lead to nationalization of industry.

A study, for example, of the so-called "free time" on the radio and television given every week to government officials would be revealing. Also the amount of time and money spent by government officials in making partisan speeches and addresses away from Washington, seeking to put over their doctrines, would run to vast sums. It is an investigation of government propaganda which was promised when the house originally voted in favor of the inquiry.

It remains to be seen if the house committee will cover only a small segment of the inquiry as ordered or whether it will comprehensively investigate those votes on current legislation by members of Congress who have been subject to improper influence and also the time and money used by government officials to carry on propaganda to sway national opinion. ## Trait Goes Back to Childhood

NEW YORK

THE GREATEST home-lovers are those who never bought a house.

Or so it seems to them.

Owning a place of his own is one of man's oldest dreams, and nothing proves more surely that, to this extent at least, he is a capitalist by nature.

It begins in childhood. And a growing boy relives the history of the human race's desire for a better shelter.

Soon after he learns to walk he starts crawling under the table and piling chairs around it to build him a kind of lean-to home. Next he digs a cave in the backyard, roofed over with tin, where he can roast potatoes over a smouldering fire and eat them half-raw in smoky, savage dignity.

Then he risks breaking his arms, legs and neck to build a tottering tree house in the nearest elm or oak, and feels he is indeed monarch of all he surveys. And, finally, he comes down into the backyard again and constructs a wooden shack as a kind of clubroom for his pals. He posts a sign on the door: "Grownup—Stay Out! This Means You!!!"

He usually has a lock on his shanty, too. And that shows he now has a personal sense of property.

FOR A FEW YEARS he doesn't do any more building. He is busy with finishing school and going through the cocoon agony of becoming an adult.

After he gets a job and marries, he starts dreaming again of a place really his own. Whether he actually does buy a home or stays a renter the rest of his days, he never forgets the thrill of that first jungle lean-to in his parents' living room, the cave, tree house and shanty in the backyard. The yearning is there, inherited across the ages. For home stands for security much more than it does for mere pride of possession.

And the longer he goes without his own home the more he wants it—in his heart, no matter what his mouth says.

My trouble is I can't make up my mind what kind of a home I really want. At first all I wanted was a log cabin like the one Thoreau lived in at Walden pond. But this was impractical. I couldn't build it. I knew if I went to the woods and cut down a tree—it would fall on me. That's how inept I am. Once I even was run over by a milk wagon.

LATER CAME

the grandiose period. I wanted an estate with formal gardens and a huge 46-room mansion with 47 bathrooms—something crawling with 17th century draperies and Italian renaissance marble. I didn't give up this dream merely because it would require $3,000,000. Who knows—a kind millionaire might leave me that.

"Why, it would take 30 servants to staff a place like that," a friend told me. Well, that ended that. Who wants 30 maids and butlers pad-paddling about his halls?

Every Sunday for the last 13 years I've spent most of the day going through the real estate sections, mentally buying a home one moment, discarding it the next. There's something wrong with them all.

It isn't the size of the house anymore. I'll settle for six rooms, an acre and a view of mountain and water. But I can't decide where I want my house.

I'd like it in Connecticut and Maine, in Florida and California, on the Riviera and in Hong Kong, in Kansas City and in Seattle. And in Albuquerque and on the Isle of Capri—and oh, at least a hundred other places. It looks now as though my dream house—if I ever get it—will be a trailer with a built-in rock garden and a portable outdoor barbecue pit.

Looking Backward

FORTY YEARS AGO—Misses Edna Thomas and Florence Brereton, Jesse Blackburn and Henry Goodchild took an automobile ride to Elwood City, Pa., Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Swan of McKinley Ave., accompanied by Mrs. F. T. Miles of Broadway, left Tuesday for Atlantic City to attend the meeting of the general assembly.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—William Green, as president of the American Federation of Labor, announced at Washington he would carry out the policy of opposition to Soviet Russia which the late Samuel Gompers inaugurated.

Skillful blending of several shades of colors form the basis for chic and eccentric French fashions this season. Some combinations popular now are navy and fuchsia, beige and bois de rose, a very pale shade, Chinese blue and pale green and always black and white.

TEN YEARS AGO—Prime Minister Chamberlain indicated he does not intend to resign immediately and has announced he would be willing to arrange a House of Commons debate on conduct of the war two weeks hence "if events should make it desirable."

Diversity Club members welcomed Miss Martha Barckhoff as a guest at a meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Wayne Loschinsky on W. Second St. Mrs. Homer Paxson and Miss Barckhoff won "500" prizes.

FIVE YEARS AGO—President Truman declared that he is opposed to any reduction in taxes until after Japan has been defeated. The President hopes to meet soon with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin to discuss the future peace program.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ogden of N. Lundy Ave. spent Sunday in Cleveland with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Barnard.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Traffic

Patrolman John Kerr Speaks In Columbiana

COLUMBIANA, June 14—Ohio highways carry more through traffic than those of any other state in the Union, Patrolman John Kerr of the Salem barracks of the State Highway Patrol told members of the Kiwanis Club Monday evening.

He also said Ohio's beaten and broken highways are not fit for fast speed and that the program of the patrol is education, engineering and enforcement.

"Safety on the Highway" was the subject of Kerr's talk. He said that of the 34,000 persons killed on U. S. highways last year, 1,957 were killed in Ohio, and of these fatalities 93 were in Columbiana and southern Mahoning counties. John Brode was program chairman.

Ralph Elser, former Mahoning county sheriff, will be the speaker next Monday evening.

Carl Willman, manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. office in Salem, presented at the meeting of the Rotary Club Monday evening a program on telephones in the rural districts.

He also showed a film, "The Farmer's Telephone," which illustrates how the farmer is reached by lines both above and under ground and the extensive surveys required to reach isolated farm houses. The advantages of the telephone to the farmer were also shown.

Speaking of the new tower at Winona, Mr. Willman said its connection with Cleveland makes television clear in this area. President William Knuth presided and announced the Wooster assembly Wednesday, July 5, for which tickets may be obtained from George Seederly.

Miss Frances Prizant, who will be director of girls' recreational activities at Firestone Park this summer, met with representatives of the park board and the Booster Club Monday evening when it was decided to start the season at 9 a. m. Thursday. Girls who wish to participate are to report at that time.

Miss Prizant will prepare a five-day week program to continue two months. No activities will be held Saturdays and Sundays.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Bookwalter Sunday observed the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, about the time Dr. Bookwalter, dean of Columbiana physicians, began practice here. They spent the day in their new residence on Firestone ave. with their son, Dr. Lee Bookwalter, and family as guests.

The Columbiana Booster Club will hold its June meeting in the high school building at 8 tonight.

The Loyal Men and Women's Class of the Christian Church will hold its June meeting at the church at 8 p. m.

Midway Grange will present at Fairfield School at 8:30 p. m. Thursday and Friday a comedy, "Womanless Wedding," the cast being entirely of male members of the grange.

The three circles of the Presbyterian Women's Association will meet at the church at 8:30 p. m. Thursday, when Mrs. Don P. Montgomery, wife of the pastor of Pleasant Grove Church, Youngstown, will be the speaker. Choir practice will precede the meeting.

The Columbiana section of the Pennsylvania Railroad maintenance of way department will no longer be a separate section, for the present at least, under a new experimental program to go into effect Thursday.

Under the new set-up, sections will be extended to embrace longer distances, and the Columbiana section will be absorbed by the Leetonia and New Waterford sections. An extra gang will be maintained to be sent to points where extra work is needed.

Ralph Russell, who has been section foreman here nearly 20 years, will probably be transferred to Leetonia or Salem.

Ex-GI Flees Army Jail For Third Time

MUNICH, Germany, June 14—(AP)—Homer Cook, husky former GI boxer from Muskogee, Okla., whose love for a fraulein landed him in a U. S. Army jail here, was still at large today after his third break for freedom.

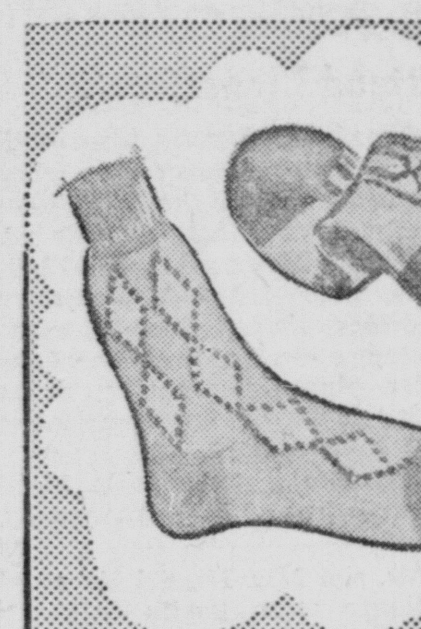

Hundreds of U. S. constabulary military police and more than 1,000 German police manned road blocks and thrashed through forests around Munich throughout the night. They couldn't find the blond 26-year-old former soldier, who was to have gone on trial before an American military court next week on 16 charges.

They include illegal entry into Germany, attempted armed robbery, resisting arrest, escaping jail—twice before—and posing as an American agent.

Anni Storer, the 23-year-old fraulein for whom Cook stowed away in an Army transport so he could get back to Germany, isn't sure about her love for him now. "Maybe it's true he's a bad man," she said.

INDICTED by the New York Grand jury investigating subversive activities, William W. Remington, 32-year-old former Commerce department official, walks to Federal court to plead not guilty to a perjury charge. He is accused of lying when he denied that he ever was a member of the Communist party.

State Probes Jobless Claims

Investigations For Fraud Under Way

COLUMBUS, June 14—(AP)—Administrator Frank J. Collopy of the State Bureau of Unemployment Compensation said last night that hundreds of investigations are being made of jobless benefit claims.

State BUC investigators, he said, want to see if there is any fraud connected with unusual numbers of benefit claims being filed in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Youngstown, Canton, Mount Vernon, Dayton, Lima and Norwood.

Last year, 90 Ohioans failed to report all earnings. They were prosecuted and convicted for receiving benefits for the same week in which employers reported vacation or severance benefits.

Collopy warned all income must be reported, even vacation and severance pay.

"Eventually we'll catch up with such claimants when we match our weekly benefit payments against employers' reports of wages paid for that same week," explained Collopy.

Parents Want Basic Subjects Emphasized

COLUMBUS, O., June 14—(AP)—Parents of Upper Arlington, Columbus suburb, want its board of education to revise its teaching system and return to the "simple virtues"—basic subjects and respect for authority.

Here is one quote from a detailed three-and-a-half page written protest and report submitted to the board by a group of 70 parents last night:

"Instead of so much attention in school curricula to social studies, global attitudes, human relations, etc., more attention should be paid to the simple virtues—the teaching of basic subjects, respect for authority, consideration of others, modesty and pride in individual initiative."

Dorothy Horsley, Importer,
Gives Quota Club Talk

Mrs. Dorothy Harrison Horsley of East Liverpool was a guest of the Quota Club at its Tuesday evening dinner meeting in the Memorial building. She has the distinction of being the only woman importer of ceramic colors in this country.

Mrs. Horsley, who is English by birth and lived in Canada for 34 years, came to East Liverpool in 1942 to care for her aged bachelor uncle. She inherited his business and is now president of the Charles W. Harrison & Co., which imports and sells ceramic colors wholesale.

Accompanied by her son, Jack, Mrs. Horsley made a trip to the Staffordshire pottery district in England last summer and she augmented her talk with some beautiful figurines and vases brought from her homeland. She visited both the Wedgwood and Coalport potteries. The Coalport plant, which belongs to her family, was started by her grandfather, William Harrison.

The speaker gave a vivid description of her visit to some of the old cities, famous cathedrals and historic spots of Britain. Mrs. Horsley also showed samples of ceramic colors, which come in powdered form, and decal sheets on which were decorative patterns for dishes.

"Manufacture of color for chinaware in an exacting procedure. Made mostly from minerals in a raw state, the color bulk is first cooked in highly heated kilns for long periods until the unwanted materials have been fired away. More refining processes are employed until the raw base color is finally ready for mixing," Mrs. Horsley explains.

"Blending of many raw colors into the final tint is carefully done. Each batch of finished color has to match a standard, and the slightest off shade will materially affect the coloring in the design on the finished ware," she avers.

"Precious and semi-precious minerals are used in color manufacture. Colors come in many shades. There are 56 shades of green, varying from light to dark, and 30 shades of pink in the same scale. Colors applied after the first glaze is on the ware are called Overglaze colors, and those applied to the ware directly and then glazed are called Underglaze."

Mrs. Horsley was introduced by Miss Lillian Schroeder, second vice president, who officiated. A past president of the East Liverpool Quota Club, Mrs. Lillian A. Miller and Mrs. Gladys I. Smith.

Mrs. Wilbur Coy and Miss Blanche Fulton, who composed the committee in charge, arranged the table decorations.

The June 27 meeting will be in the form of a picnic at Centennial Park. At that time delegates will report the International Quota Convention, which is now in session at Mackinac Island, Mich.

Forest Smith, 84, Feted On Birthday

Forest M. Smith of New Garden was honored on his 84th birthday anniversary Sunday with a picnic dinner at the home of his son, Emmet Smith. Ninety members of his immediate family attended. Mr. Smith has 27 grandchildren and 48 great grandchildren.

A three-tiered cake, with 84 candles, was baked by his granddaughters, Mrs. Lee Votaw and Violet Smith. The honoree received many gifts, including money. The day was spent socially with ball games entertaining the men and boys.

Guests were present from East Liverpool, Kensington, Elyria, Minerva and Salem.

Mr. Smith lives in his own home and is in good health.

Mrs. Mason To Head Commandery Auxiliary

Officers were named for the fiscal year and Mrs. J. J. Bennett and daughter Josephine, were in charge of the program at a meeting of Salem Commandery Auxiliary Tuesday evening in the Masonic temple.

Officers are: President, Mrs. G. Forrest Mason; vice president, Mrs. Henry Daves; secretary, Mrs. J. F. Bryan; treasurer, Mrs. A. H. Wentz. Mrs. Bennett entertained with two readings, "The Painter Seville" and "Two Kittens," and games were played.

Secret pals were revealed and new pals were chosen. Mrs. J. A. Noble and Miss Lucille Bennett were hostesses for the coverdinner, which preceded the commandery and auxiliary meetings.

SCRAP PRICES GOING UP

SCRAP FOR STEEL-MAKING has been going up since January. At least one major producer has already boosted its prices for finished steel. Further increases will probably boost the price of things you buy in which steel is used. The Newschart above, based on Steel Magazine data, shows the steady price-rise since March 2, when the average price of scrap in the three biggest steel districts was $27.33. By the first week of June it had jumped to $37.17. In the Pittsburgh area, scrap went up to $46 in the second week of June.

er; song, Sunday School; dialogue, "The Bible," and "Books of the Bible" with the "Bible Song," Margaret Hayman, Mary Schaffer, Ruth Amon, Gladys Oyer, Sue Haynam, Lloyd Hays, Jim DeBray; Mizpah benediction and recessional, junior department.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

OPINION—GOSSIP—NOTES—

YESTERDAY'S STARS: Batting, Hoot Evers, Tigers — Clouted a single, triple and a game-winning home run in the 10th inning to give Detroit a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Pitching—Chuck Stobbs, Red Sox—Allowed only two hits and fanned seven as the Red Sox swamped the Cleveland Indians, 8-1.

Shift To The Right

When Paul Brown was coaching football at Massillon, O., High school he noticed one kid who was willing enough but just seemed too weak and listless to play. Investigation revealed the boy's family was a destitute. Paul enlisted the aid of the Massillon Booster Club.

The family was put on its feet and the kid after playing high school ball, went on to Ohio State. On his arrival, the kid received a hearty welcome from Athletic Director L. W. St. John. In reply, the youngster said solemnly: "Mr. St. John, if it had not been for Paul Brown, I'd have been here in Columbus before this, but in another institution." Besides the university, one institution in Columbus is the state penitentiary.

Shorties

Steve Lesick of Salem roared to victory in his No. 5 red and yellow speedster in the feature event of the hot rod auto races at the Barborton Speedway Saturday night. He took the lead in the 18th lap and finished ahead of Paul Hooper of Marion.

JUNE 13—(AP)—Add hazards of playing the outfield in high school baseball: Ray Villeneuve, 17, outfielder for St. Michael's High school, was bitten by a horse yesterday while chasing a foul fly into an adjoining pasture. He didn't make the catch, but remained in the game, after receiving first aid.

Pro Andy Mocsary of the Salem Golf Club tied with three others for first in the "low pro" division of a pro-amateur tournament at Warren's Trumbull Country Club Monday. He shot a 38-35-73. He and Walter Hartsock of the local club finished with the seventh best score, 71, in the best ball event.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and George Kell of the Detroit Tigers neared a deadlock today as most popular player in the national vote of fans in the All Star baseball poll. The poll, to select starters for the annual game, July 11, in Chicago's Comiskey Park, opened Monday and will continue until midnight July 1. Musial was 142 votes ahead of the Tiger third baseman in first returns but the edge was trimmed to 65 today. Musial has a total of 2,704 votes while Kell has 2,639.

Dixon's Daily Dozen

Ever think of the tremendous pressure which was on Ben Hogan when he came down to the 18th hole last Saturday needing a par 4 to tie for first in the National Open? No one would have been surprised had he taken a bogey 5. But he got his par.

The guy must have nerves of steel. He's all wrapped up in concentration, all the while he plays.

We can remember blowing an 18-inch putt one time at the Salem Golf club when all that was riding was a little match in one of the club's tournaments, plus a nickel bet.

How can a guy hold up when he stands a chance to win $50,000 on a single hole?

We'd probably have either collapsed on the spot or simply walked off the course if we were ever put in Hogan's shoes.

Not too much chance of that happening, unfortunately.

Pressure or "the lump in the throat" is a funny thing. Seems to affect everyone to some degree, although many don't show it.

Some athletes love to have the heat on them. They say they do better. Others tighten up and can't do a thing.

One of the greatest pressure players in action today is Lou Boudreau. He seems to love it when the chips are down.

His great show in Boston in the memorable playoff substantiates the claim.

All he got that day, with the pennant riding, was two home runs, two singles and a walk. Not too bad a showing for a player-manager who had his job and about $7,000 in cash at stake.

Charles-Savold Bout Planned By Promoter

NEW YORK, June 14—(AP)—It may be a long shot hope, but the International Boxing Club wants to pit Lee Savold against Ezzard Charles for the undisputed world heavyweight title in September.

Jim Norris, head of the IBC, disclosed yesterday his plans for such a bout at Yankee Stadium. Savold, earlier this month, stopped England's Bruce Woodcock in four rounds for the British version of the world championship.

There are at least three big "ifs" confronting the fight. Charles is due for another physical examination in August to determine whether his strained heart muscle will preclude defending his NBA title. Norris seeks to have the examination moved up.

Savold's manager, Bill Daly, may not consider an IBC bid so long as that organization and the New York Boxing Managers Guild fail to agree in their squabble over television receipts.

And Daly may insist on the next Savold start being for Jack Solomons, who promoted the Savold-Woodcock bout in London.

Hoot Evers Shoves Detroit Into AL Lead

Tiger's Star Blossomed Out When Wakefield Departed

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Walter (Hoot) Evers finally has gotten out of the shadow of Dick Wakefield.

For nine long years the blond-haired, blue-eyed slugger had to play second fiddle to Wakefield, the $52,000 bonus baby.

Ever since both were 20 years old when they joined the Tiger organization, Wakefield was the one in the spotlight, took all the bows and most of the money.

It was just plug, plug for the unheralded St. Louisian, whose only claim to fame was that he was Wakefield's roomie and traveling companion.

This season with Wakefield's shadow no longer hovering over him Evers finally established himself as a top drawer star.

Last night he hammered a 10th inning home run to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. It was his ninth of the campaign. He also walloped a triple and single.

to run his hitting streak through 13 consecutive games. He added 10 points to his batting average to place him at the top in both leagues with a .379 figure.

Evers' bat boosted the league leading Tigers to a half game edge over the New York Yankees, who bowed to the White Sox in Chicago, 6-5. It was the first Yankee defeat in the west. They had made a sweep of the previous tour.

ART HOUTEMAN survived three home run pitches to post his seventh victory for Detroit. A pair of homers by Elmer Valo, each with one on, and another by Sam Chapman accounted for all Philadelphia's runs.

Boston's Red Sox whipped the Cleveland Indians 8-1 on the two hit pitching of Chuck Stobbs to remain five and a half games behind the Tigers.

Bobby Doerr, who can hit Bobby Feller blindfolded, cracked a pair of home runs, a triple and single off the former strikeout king to lead the Sox to their first win of the western invasion.

Stobbs faced only 31 Indians and fanned seven. Bob Kennedy's home run in the first accounted for the Cleveland score. Lou Boudreau's single in the fourth was the only other Tribe hit.

The St. Louis Browns, fresh from a successful Eastern trip, walloped the Washington Senators twice, 8-3 and 6-1 to move into seventh place, only a half length behind the White Sox.

The St. Louis Cardinals increased their National League lead to three full games, whipping the third place Phils in Philadelphia, 6-3, while the runner-up Dodgers were losing to

47th ABC Tourney Ends In Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., June 14—(AP)—The American Bowling Congress' 47th annual tournament ended last night with bowlers from Detroit, Mich., carrying off a major share of the top prize money.

Detroit teams and bowlers won 10 positions among the first ten leaders in the tournament's four major events. In addition, the E. and B. team from Detroit turned the unprecedented trick of winning the all-events championship for the second year in a row with a combined score of 8978.

Teams from half-a-dozen Ohio cities also won 10 places among the first ten leaders, but the Lloyd Jones of Youngstown and owner of the Salem Bowling Center finished in eighth place in the A. B. C. singles event. His score of 698 netted him $350.

Three men tied for ninth place with 697, one pin behind.

tourney had many more entries from Ohio than from any other area.

Four new champions were crowned last night in addition to the team all-events winner, which does not get a money prize because it collects heavily in the other events.

Champions crowned were Frank Santore of Long Island City, N. Y., all events, with a score of 1981; Willie Ebosh and Earl Linz of Cleveland, doubles, 1325, and Everett Leins of Aurora, Ill., singles, 747. All rolled during May.

The Pepsi-Cola team from Detroit was declared winner of the team event Monday night with 2952, lowest winning team score since 1916.

Only one new record was set during the tournament and that was for the lowest score ever to warrant a cash prize in the team event. Teams that bowled 2633 this year picked up cash. The previous low pay-off was 2638 at Detroit ten years ago.

Leins' singles score of 747 was the second best in ABC tourney history, only 27 pins less than the all-time record of 774 set by Larry Stottwell of Covington, Ky., in 1930 at Cleveland.

Next year's tourney will be at St. Paul's auditorium, beginning in mid-April. More than 3,000 teams already have asked for dates.

the Chicago Cubs. Boston's Braves trounced the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3.

The Cards tallied all their runs in one inning—the sixth—when they chased starter Curt Simmons with a five-hit blast. A bases loaded single by Marty Marion and a two-run double by Red Schoendienst did most of the damage.

Huge Regatta Train Prepared

Will Carry 5,600 Fans Along River

MARIETTA, O., June 13—(AP)—One of the world's largest passenger trains—42 cars and two diesel engines—will carry spectators along the Ohio River Saturday for the Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta.

Some 5,600 passengers will watch rowing crews from 13 colleges from the observation train, believed to be unique in the history of water sports.

The train, resembling a long, black snake, will be composed of gondola-type freight cars. In each car will be built-in wooden bleachers five tiers deep and seating 140 persons. The train was assembled by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

Tickets for seats at $5 each were sold out weeks ago. A ticket will entitle the rider to see the freshman, jayvee and varsity races. The train will return to the starting point after each race. Two engines, one at either end, will haul the train. The front engine will pull it towards the finish line and the rear engine will take it back to the start.

All this will be accomplished by an intricate system of communications resembling a large-scale battle plan. The "pilot-to-control tower" type of communications will operate among race officials on boats in the river and engineers, regatta officials and the railroad superintendent aboard the train.

THE PURPOSE, of course, is to keep pace with the sleek rowing shells churning down the river. Officials estimate the boats will travel about 18 knots, or nautical miles, per hour. The train will move along at about the same speed.

Coordinating the train movement will be George L. Shiebler of Rockville Center, N. Y., IRA administrative assistant.

A slight bend in the Ohio River will prevent anyone on the train from viewing the first mile of the varsity and jayvee events. The freshman race will begin at the one-mile point on the course near the end.

Except for this and a cluster of trees near a roadside park along the course, the view of the beautiful Ohio—and the race—will be practically unobstructed.

Setting up the only known train of this type was a tremendous task for B. & O. and rowing officials. The railroad had to gather cars from all over its far-flung system.

Train Superintendent Arch S. Waller of Newark, O., estimates it is costing the railroad about $7,000 to keep the cars from the usual task of hauling steel and machinery. The railroad's only compensation will be 50 cents per ticket from each passenger, or about $2,800.

Marietta's rowing commission, local sponsor of the event, has invested more than $5,000 in train bleacher seats. It expects to clear a tidy profit on this, finish line bleachers and concessions.

He may be stout,
He may be lean.
But scarce with love
He's never been —
But rather is he always there
To solve all problems, banish care!

He's a gentleman
Of knowing honor,
Like knights of old
In shining armor,
Though different suits he's wont to shed
When getting ready for his bed!

Arms of brawn

Bob Theiss Hurls One-Hitter; Loses

Although he hurls a neat
one-hit game, striking out 18
N. Georgetown batters, Bob
Theiss lost a 1-0 decision Monday night at Lake Placid in the first Junior Legion tilt of the season.

Theiss, one of the most promising pitchers in the area, walked only one man, but had a run scored against him in the last of the seventh which decided the game. He also collected two of Salem's four hits.

Salem played without the services of Bob Coy, Jim Callahan and Red Weingart, who are attending Boys' State.

The first home game for Salem will be next Wednesday against
E. Liverpool.

Pittsburgh Milk Row In Sixth Day

PITTSBURGH, June 14—(AP)—The milk supply of seven western Pennsylvania counties was still shut off today as the strike of AFL dairy workers went into its sixth day with no break in sight.

Negotiators will try again this afternoon to iron out the differences that cut off milk supplies to some 2,300,000 persons since Friday.

State police are patrolling all highways to prevent violence from strike pickets, on orders from Governor James Duff. Pickets halted a truck of the Pike Dairy Company, Uniontown, between Richesville and Vestaburg, Washington county, and dumped 500 quarts of milk.

Ten pickets were arrested as a result of earlier violence and lodged in Westmoreland county jail in Greensburg, Pa. In Pittsburgh, windows of two dairy stores were smashed. One of the stores had been selling milk and ice cream brought in from Ohio.

Canton Man Drowned In Leesville Lake

LEESVILLE, June 14—A Canton man drowned in Leesville lake Tuesday at 6:45 p. m. after attempting to swim across a 500-foot bay while fully clothed, Carroll County Sheriff Roy Orwick reported today.

The body of Oliver Samples, 23, was found at 8:05 p. m. in 15 feet of water 75 feet from shore by Kenneth Weeks, an employee at the landing, George Sharp of Lowell, Ind., and Walter W. Dunlap of Canton.

Carroll County Coroner Charles Deckman returned a verdict of accidental drowning.

Mr. Dunlap, who witnessed the drowning said he heard Mr. Samples tell his mother, Mrs. Altha Samples, that he wasn't feeling well shortly before he went into the water.

Mr. Samples had been a Canton resident since 1945 and had been employed the last three years by Timken Roller Bearing Co. He had previously been employed by Republic Steel Corp.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Altha Samples; four brothers and a sister, all of Canton.

Income Tax Deadline Falls Thursday Night

WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—Corporations and a sizable group of individuals face another income tax deadline tomorrow midnight, their second of the year.

Quarterly income tax payments are due from corporations on 1949 earnings, from individuals on estimated 1950 taxes over and above those collected via the withholding process.

These will be the second quarterly payments made this year. The first carried a March 15 deadline, as did final payments of individual income taxes for 1949.

The size of the payments will have a big bearing on how deep the government goes in the red for this fiscal year, which ends June 30.

THIS LONG-LEGGED flamingo at the San Antonio, Tex., zoo has reason to be proud. She's keeping an alert eye on what is believed to be the first egg laid by a flamingo in captivity in the United States. Zoo custodians think it may also be the first in the world.

Women Fliers Compete In Cross-Country Race

GREENVILLE, S. C., June 14—(AP)—About 20 women fliers were expected to wing across the finish line here today in the 99's transcontinental air race.

Three contestants roared in yesterday to pace the cross-country dash. Mary Ann Woodrum of Roanoke, Va., and her co-pilot, Mary Ann Weatherby of Peace Springs, Va., were the first to arrive. They made the distance in 14 hours 40 minutes flying time.

Arlene Davis of Cleveland, and Lenore McElroy of Ann Arbor, Mich., followed in that order.

Other entries were reported at cities from Texas to Georgia. They have until Friday to reach Greenville but they don't fly at night or on instruments.

Alliance To Sponsor Baton Contest

ALLIANCE, June 12—Alliance's second annual baton twirling contest is scheduled for Tuesday, June 27, at Mount Union College's Hartshorn Stadium. It was announced by the Exchange Club, sponsors of the affair.

The all-day event will be judged in part by Victor Faber of Findlay, national adult champion and president of the National Drum Majors and Twirlers Association. Last year, baton swingers from five states and between the ages of three and 18 took part in the contest which is open to the public free of charge.

Six Americans Escape Death In Plane Crash

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, June 14—(AP)—Six Americans, including one woman and a child, escaped death Sunday when their plane crashed in the steamy lion-infested jungle near the Somali border, according to weak radio signals for help.

Names of the passengers are unknown but a radio message from the downed plane yesterday said that all were alive.

Rescue parties in high-powered cars are fighting their way slowly through the rainy, roadless jungle in the wild lion and leopard country to try to reach them.

Capt. Donald C. Collins of Los Angeles, Ethiopian airlines pilot, has dropped medicine and food at a spot where he believes he sighted plane wreckage.

Soap Box Derby Plan Includes Special Ramps

AKRON, June 14—Because Akron has won so many soap box derby races, derby officials have decided to have contestants here qualify on a special ramp.

Previously, the boys had tried out for the national races on the same ramps used in the finals. Some cities complained this gave the Akron lads—rolling always on home grounds—an unfair advantage.

The national races are scheduled this year for Aug. 13.

Hearing On Wednesday For Supt. Schafer

ALLIANCE, June 14—Following filing of a bill of particulars on the assault and battery charge against Russell E. Schafer, superintendent of schools, Judge Harry Wyckoff set 10 a. m. next Wednesday for a hearing of Mr. Schafer's plea.

Attorney for the defendant demanded a full bill of particulars before entering a plea for Mr. Schafer.

Mr. Schafer had tendered his resignation as superintendent May 30, 1950, but just 24 hours before his arraignment on the charge he announced his withdrawal of the resignation. The board has deferred action on the two matters.
